CHERRY BLOSSOM TOURNAMENT

For the eighth straight year, the University of Maryland will be the site of the Cherry Blossom Tournament. This is the 17th renewal of the tourney but since 1967 the Terps and George Washington have co-hosted the event at the Cole Field House courts.

In the seven years since the move to Maryland, the Terps have won or tied for the title five times. The 1967 and 1968 round-robin affairs were won by Maryland with flawless 3-0 marks. 1969 saw the Terps tie with GW at 2-1 for the crown.

Maryland won the 1971 and 1973 tournaments with 3-0 marks. The only non-winning years were 1970 as the Terps finished second to Indiana and 1972 when Maryland was again runner-up, this time to Columbia.

This year's field will include Virginia Tech and Swarthmore in addition to the two hosts. Again the competition will be a round-robin with each team playing a dual match against the other three.
